Nearly half of all deaths in children under 5 years of age are attributable to undernutrition. This talk explores my work to address child undernutrition focusing on recent efforts related to nutrition and infection, maternal nutrition and the management of severe acute malnutrition.