Colleen is being recognized with an ACE honorable mention for her recent outstanding commitment to the Harvard Chan student community throughout the pandemic. Her colleagues distinguish her as “exemplary”, “continually striving”, “deeply caring”, and “integral” to not only her team but to more than 1,000 students.

Due to their varied locations around the world, she has been available to them seven days a week and at all hours to help them navigate the resources available so they can meet their goals. She has been an outstanding resource to them offering compassion, care, and intention to many during some of the hardest points of their lives.

Additionally, Colleen also is managing the new developed Student Emergency Fund and assesses and reviews hundreds of applications and processes funds for students in need and in crisis.

Well done, Colleen!
