A Takemi Program Seminar

Leveraging the voice of community workers in health governance: a two-case study from Zambia and Japan

Friday, March 25, 2016
2:00-3:30 pm
SPH Building 1, GHP 12th Floor Conference Room

Aya Goto, Associate Professor in the Department of Public Health at Fukushima Medical University School of Medicine (2012-13 Takemi Fellow)

“Thinking, talking and working with public health nurses after the Fukushima nuclear accident”

Meg Henning, Associate Professor, Health Science Department, Keene State College (2012-2013 Takemi Fellow)

“Integrating the community health worker into the national health care system in Zambia”

RSVP: Amy Levin alevin@hsph.harvard.edu 617-432-0686