CORE VALUES OF THE HARVARD T.H. CHAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Health is a fundamental right of every human being.

Public health has the responsibility to improve and protect the health of all populations, especially the most vulnerable of these—children, the elderly, the poor, and the underserved.

Public health must emphasize prevention and embrace collective, multifaceted action by health practitioners and researchers to respond to emerging challenges; it must investigate disease determinants and risks, improve health care quality and delivery, and influence policy.

Institutions of public health should provide information that promotes health in populations and empowers individuals to make sound health decisions.

The educational and research agenda of a public health institution must transcend local and national boundaries—health is a global concern.

A public health institution should support the ideal of service in all its aspects—research, teaching, community involvement, and communication.

All members of a public health institution should respect the highest principles of scientific and academic conduct, foster open inquiry, and honor individual rights.
Welcome to campus

Powerful ideas for a healthier world
Dear New Students,

Welcome to the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. We are a unique and exciting academic community comprised of world-renowned faculty, prominent researchers, and—most important of all—dedicated students like you.

We all arrive at this School with our own goals and aspirations. As a student, I was searching for something that would link biology and basic science with the socio-cultural-political part of my brain. When I stepped through the doors here, I realized what a glorious world public health is. I saw how biology, engineering, data sciences, social sciences, technology, economics— you name it—find space under a very large public health tent. I was inspired by my fellow classmates, the faculty, and everyone here as they showed me how individuals with skills and talents across these vast disciplines can come together to solve real world problems.

In public health we can go from genes to the globe, from urban design to vaccine design, from health literacy to health economics, from computational biology to violence prevention. But what brings us together as students and faculty, whether we focus more on public health research or practice, is a shared excitement for learning, and a shared commitment to making people’s lives healthier and better. My wish is that you be open to all the new skills you will acquire and all the interesting people you will meet during your time at the School. I know that in the months ahead you will learn a lot from your classmates, who come from many different countries, backgrounds, and prior academic and career experiences. Similarly, I hope you are fortunate enough to forge some wonderful relationships with teachers and mentors who will help you at this most pivotal period of your development. Such relationships and shared experiences will sustain and inspire you for a lifetime.

Gratitude has been one of the biggest drivers of my career. So let me close by saying that I am grateful to you for choosing the Harvard Chan School and for all that you bring to this community. Your intellect, your passion, and your willingness to celebrate each other’s talents are all an inspiration to me. While you have much to learn in the year ahead, I know that I and the entire faculty will also learn a lot from you.

I look forward to sharing as much time with you as possible as we work together to create powerful ideas that will improve the health and well-being of people around the world.

Sincerely,

Michelle A. Williams, SM ’88, ScD ’91
Dean of the Faculty, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health
Angelopoulos Professor in Public Health and International Development, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and Harvard Kennedy School

The Registrar's Office supports degree and non-degree students at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health by:

- Assisting students with course enrollment
- Maintaining students’ academic record, including but not limited to program, enrollment, and biographical data
- Managing the grade process
- Implementing deadlines posted on the Schools’ Academic Calendar
- Monitoring students' compliance with school-wide degree requirements
- Certifying student enrollment statuses
- Processing transcript requests
- Assessing students’ tuition
- Scheduling classes in coordination with the School’s programs and departments
- And more!

All students should review the School’s Student Handbook to familiarize themselves with the school-wide policies by which they are expected to adhere and the numerous resources available at the school. This document includes, but is not limited to: registration policies, academic integrity procedures, grading protocols, and more. It is available in PDF form on the Registrar’s webpage: hsph.harvard.edu/student-handbook/
The Harvard Chan Registrar's Office, Office of Financial Aid, and academic department/program offices are in the Longwood campus. The Student Accounts Office is in Cambridge.
The mission of the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) is to promote equity, diversity, and inclusion within the Harvard Chan community and beyond. We hope to create a culture which advances both the public’s health through learning, discovery, and communication and the mental health and welfare of our community through intentional and meaningful acts of compassion and support. ODI promotes diversity, equity, and inclusion within our school and greater community through:

- Using empirical data to inform members of our community
- Implementing strategies and techniques to increase awareness
- Promoting inclusive teaching and learning environments
- Advocating for fairness and equality, creating culturally competent climate, and culturally safe spaces
- Identifying and sourcing pipeline talent through mentoring, the use of retention strategies, and providing leadership to students, faculty, and staff

In addition, ODI provides advice, guidance, mentoring, outreach, culturally competent professional development, resources, support services, and programming to the Harvard Chan community. To this end, the Office aims to create an inclusive campus environment for all members of the Harvard Chan community. There are many ways to get involved – whether it is studying and relaxing in the office, recruiting as an Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Fellow, assisting with pipeline programs or meeting at different events, ODI looks forward to meeting and getting to know you.

ODI is located in Kresge Room G4 and is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM. You are invited to visit this space to eat, hang out, and study!

Some ODI signature programs are: Self, Social, and Global Awareness; Health Equity and Leadership (HEAL) Conference; Yerby Diversity Lectures; Youth in Public Health Summit; and the Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Fellows.* The Office also co-sponsors numerous events with other Harvard schools, offices and departments within the Harvard Chan School, student organizations, and other entities, that support programming related to gender identity, socioeconomic, sexual orientation, and racial justice, diversity, inclusion.

In addition to ODI space and programs, the ODI staff members are available to meet with individuals for consultations. If you are experiencing a challenge, or just have a question, please do not hesitate to stop by the office or contact an ODI staff member to schedule an appointment.

*ODI is also home to the Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion (EDI) Fellows, a cohort of students who assist with workshop development and programming throughout the year. If you are interested in serving as an EDI Fellow, please contact one of the ODI staff members to learn about the application process

The Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health is located in Boston’s Mission Hill neighborhood, which is approximately one square mile in size and home to almost 16,000 residents—a racially and ethnically diverse mix of youth, long-term residents, college students, and medical professionals. Bordering the town of Brookline and the neighborhoods of Roxbury (which includes Mission Hill), Jamaica Plain, and the Fenway, Mission Hill also receives support from many of the local hospitals in the Longwood Medical Area to address the health needs of the surrounding community.

As current and future public health researchers and practitioners, we seek to embrace our role of social responsibility and support the efforts of our neighborhood’s residents, K-12 schools, community-based organizations, and advocacy groups to improve the quality of life of Mission Hill residents. Courses focused on health disparities, community-based participatory research (CBPR), community health, mixed-methods research, and research translation aid in the development and understanding of the complex issues impacting optimal health in local communities.

Real-world experience within the local community can be gained through your practicum experience, participating in school-sponsored community engagement opportunities, or simply embracing the “gift of proximity” – actively engaging with members of the community, both civically and socially.

During the upcoming academic year, the Office of Diversity and Inclusion will offer workshops to provide community awareness and skill development towards public health practice including engaging community stakeholders to improve health in a community, effectively communicating research material to a non-academic entity, group facilitation skills, and the framing of local public health issues.

As we continue to shape our school’s community engagement strategy, we will embrace the following principles to guide our work:

- ASSET-BASED APPROACH – focus on community strengths and assets, rather than focusing on a community’s needs.
- COMMUNITY-DRIVEN – resident and community-based organizations (CBOs) identified issues are addressed with respect to equitable decision-making and problem-solving strategies.
- PARTICIPATORY – deliberately engage individuals that are directly impacted by the identified quality of life issue(s) in all phases of the process.
- TRANSPARENCY – clearly articulated purpose, intent, roles, and deliverables communicated in a timely and appropriate method.
- PLACE-BASED – accept our responsibility as a school of public health and future practitioners to make health investments in our community, and other Boston neighborhoods that are experiencing health inequities.

For more information on the Mission Hill neighborhood, the City of Boston, and opportunities for community engagement, please visit our webpage: hsph.harvard.edu/diversity

A primary goal of the Office of Education (OED) is to deliver student-centered educational programs and to provide opportunities for learning that enable graduates to become leaders in public health research and practice. The activities of the OED working together with many departments, programs, and offices at the Harvard Chan School are core to the educational mission of the School.

MASTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH DEGREE
The master of public health degree provides students with the breadth of knowledge, subject-specific expertise, specialized skills, and powerful global network to forge a career in public health. hsph.harvard.edu/office-of-education/master-of-public-health

DOCTOR OF PUBLIC HEALTH DEGREE
A three-year multidisciplinary degree that provides advanced education in public health along with mastery of skills in management, leadership, communications, and innovation thinking, through a combination of academic and experiential learning curriculum. hsph.harvard.edu/drph

PRACTICE AND FIELD EXPERIENCES
The field practice experience is central to professional degree programs in public health at both the Masters and Doctoral levels. hsph.harvard.edu/public-health-practice-resources/for-students

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT
The Interdisciplinary Public Health Leadership Concentration is a year-long, theory-based leadership development program that provides students the opportunity to develop a greater understanding of themselves as leader and learner. hsph.harvard.edu/phl

WRITING PROGRAMS
Resources for students and postdoctoral research fellows include non-credit public health writing courses focused on writing clear, concise, and coherent evidence-based critical arguments, and involving collaborative learning through teamwork and peer review. hsph.harvard.edu/office-of-education/professional-communication-seminar

COURSE DEVELOPMENT AND TEACHING RESOURCES
The Office of Education offers support and training programs for teaching and course development to faculty; oversees the School’s student course evaluation process; and provides course materials support, rights and permissions clearance, and distribution. caseresources.hsph.harvard.edu hsph.me/oed-teaching-assistants hsph.me/oed-teaching-support
An integral part of pursuing a degree at the Harvard Chan School is professional development and career advancement. In partnership with faculty and program administrators, the Office for Career Advancement helps students clarify and reach their professional goals.

Everything you do at the Harvard Chan School will support your professional development. Your classmates, alumni, faculty, and administrators from all over the world will enrich your experience because of the incredible depth of experience they bring to the School. In addition, the Office for Career Advancement team of dedicated professionals will provide you with career development support and resources and create many opportunities to connect you with alumni and employers in close collaboration with the Office for Alumni Affairs.

JOB AND INTERNSHIP RESOURCES
The Office for Career Advancement provides individual coaching, small-group support, and programs to help students polish their job search skills and materials. The Career Advancement website provides a wide variety of resources for self-reflection, exploring your options, skills building and job seeking. CareerConnect, our online job and career management system, will enable you to identify employment opportunities and potential employers and is your one-stop place to find workshops, coaching appointments and job, practicum and internship listings. In the past year, the office posted hundreds of jobs, fellowships, and internships from early and mid-career to executive placements. The Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health Network on LinkedIn is open to students, alumni, and other members of the School community, offering a dynamic professional network and an opportunity to find internships and jobs and to connect with other Harvard Chan affiliates and alumni.

CONNECTING WITH EMPLOYERS
The Office for Career Advancement brings more than 100 employers to campus each year to connect with and to recruit students through career expos, information sessions, career-related workshops, and meet-ups. You can also participate in employer site visits and take part in career exploration trips to Washington, D.C., and New York City. In addition, many practitioners, including alumni, visit the Harvard Chan School to make presentations and attend events, and they are eager to share career advice.

THE POWER OF OUR ALUMNI NETWORK
Harvard Chan School students agree that the connections they make with each other and with alumni are among the most important aspects of the Harvard Chan School experience. After graduation, our alumni become part of a vibrant and active global community of individuals dedicated to achieving a healthier world—a robust network of alumni from around the globe.

As a student, you will have many formal and informal opportunities to make connections with alumni. Our graduates help students further their careers by offering professional advice, mentoring, one-on-one meetings, networking, and providing entrée to practicums, internships, and jobs.

CONTACT INFORMATION

Email: careers@hsph.harvard.edu
Phone: 617-432-1034
Location: Kresge G4
The Harvard International Office (HIO) staff advises international students and scholars on immigration matters, social and cultural differences, and financial and personal concerns. The office provides orientations throughout the year to help new students, scholars, and their spouses adjust quickly to life in the U.S. and to minimize the difficulties they may experience throughout their stay. You may find their welcome guide a helpful place for information that will help you get settled quickly once you arrive on-campus: hio.harvard.edu/welcome-guide

During the month of August, walking tours to shopping areas are provided. The Host Program for International Students provides full-time enrolled students from abroad with the opportunity to get to know a resident in the Boston area who will welcome them and ease their transition to the American way of life. Please review the HIO website here: hio.harvard.edu/registration-orientation, and contact Zarrin Foster at 617-496-2816 for more information.

All newly admitted international students and returning international students enrolled in summer-only programs must register with the HIO before the add/drop deadline. Students should bring their passports, visa stamps, and I-20 or DS-2019 documents with them to complete registration with the HIO. For any questions regarding immigration and visa matters, please contact Elizabeth Capuano at elizabeth_capuano@harvard.edu

The HIO is open Monday and Wednesday through Friday, 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM. On Tuesdays, the HIO is open from 11:00 AM to 5:00 PM. The MASCO shuttle bus stops in front of the Smith Center, the building in which HIO is located.

Elizabeth holds regular office hours at the Harvard School of Public Health. Dates, hours, and location are advertised in advance on the HIO website: hio.harvard.edu/about/hio/locationandhours/hbslmaofficehours.

SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBERS
To work in the United States you must have a Social Security Number. You may start working without a Social Security Number as long as you provide evidence to your employer that you have applied for one. If you have a Social Security Number you should use it when completing your tax forms. For additional information on Social Security Numbers visit: hio.harvard.edu/social-security-numbers

OPENING A BANK ACCOUNT
The HIO has some information about opening a bank account on their website here: hio.harvard.edu/bank-accounts-and-credit-cards

Please note that you usually are not able to get a credit card without a Social Security Number. However, if you open an account at the Harvard University Employee’s Credit Union, on the first floor of Kresge, you should be eligible for a credit card with limited credit, even if you do not have a Social Security Number.
DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

The Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health is dedicated to providing students with appropriate support and services to ensure that they have an accessible and welcoming learning environment. The School’s services for students with disabilities, located in the Office for Student Affairs, complies with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (as amended in 2008) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 in providing services to students with disabilities.

The School determines reasonable accommodations on an individual, case-by-case basis. Students are required to submit current clinical documentation by an appropriate medical care professional and must include the student’s name, a diagnosis, and detail the functional limitations caused by the diagnosis. This documentation should also outline the treating medical professional’s recommended accommodations. Additional documentation may be requested as needed. Please note that obtaining documentation from a medical professional can take time and, therefore, students should plan accordingly. Last-minute submission of documentation may result in delays in accommodations.

Please note that the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health works to maintain privacy; however, information on functional limitations and accommodations may be shared internally on a need-to-know basis. This material is released to a third party consistent with state and federal law.

For more information, please visit the Office for Student Affairs’ Disability Services website: hsp.harvard.edu/student-affairs/disability-services/. Please also feel free to contact the Office at 617-432-1542 or email studentaffairs@hsph.harvard.edu.

GRADUATE STUDENT LEARNING SUPPORT (GSLS)

Students may find themselves challenged by some of the academic demands of graduate school. Graduate Student Learning Support (GSLS) is a program designed to assist students who are struggling with academic and learning issues and for whom content-based tutoring is not quite enough.

These issues can include challenges with time management, difficulty in absorbing new material, completing academic work, or understanding reading materials; anxiety about quantitative skills, writing, or test taking; and reluctance to speak in class. Through strategic intervention, GSLS is designed to help students overcome academic hurdles before they become insurmountable. GSLS provides graduate students with the opportunity to meet individually with a professional for consultation and that consultation may result in:

- Assignment to a learning specialist who will help the student improve study skills or learning strategies and limited on-site psychological assessments
- Referral for a neuropsychological assessment or evaluation and follow up consultation
- Potential accommodations through the OSA’s disability coordinator (with proper documentation)

Students who may benefit from these services can be referred by the Office for Student Affairs: studentaffairs@hsph.harvard.edu or call 617-432-1542.
Students experiencing difficulty in a course should consult with the instructor and/or teaching assistant in that course and should make full use of the resources available, including labs, teaching assistant sessions and office hours, instructor office hours, and scheduled remedial sessions. Students considered by the instructor to be in academic difficulty in a course required for graduation may be able to arrange for a tutor.

The Office for Student Affairs can help support tutoring needs for students experiencing academic difficulty or challenges. This tutoring support is most often provided for core courses, but students should not hesitate to contact Student Affairs at 617-432-1542 or email studentaffairs@hsph.harvard.edu about any academic issue in any course.

Harvard Global Support Services (GSS) provides students, faculty, and staff with resources related to safety and security, health, culture, outbound immigration, employment, financial and legal matters, and research center operations. GSS is a full-service team committed to minimizing risk and managing complexity, so you can feel confident about your international travel and activities. Before traveling internationally, register your trip with GSS so that they can locate and contact you if an incident occurs and provide help, if needed. GSS also provides a 24/7 global emergency response program, which includes access to medical, mental health, and security assistance and evacuation services while traveling for University business and University-related activities. Learn more about how GSS can help you: globalsupport.harvard.edu.
Harvard University Health Services (HUHS) provides comprehensive, confidential health care to students, staff, faculty, and their dependents. HUHS has four locations across the Harvard campuses. The main location is in Smith Campus Center in Harvard Square, with satellite clinics on the Longwood Medical Area, and Law School campuses. Visit huhs.harvard.edu for more detailed information.

MEDICAL EMERGENCIES

If you experience a life-threatening emergency, call 911.

For those with HUHS Student Insurance - call 617-495-5711 for after-hours urgent care clinic and ask for the Longwood Medical Area physician on call.

For those without HUHS Student Insurance - Beth Israel Deaconess at 330 Brookline Avenue in Boston for adults and Children’s Hospital at 300 Longwood Avenue in Boston.

URGENT CARE

Care for non-routine, urgent medical concerns or symptoms is available 24/7. Students can schedule same-day, non-routine medical appointments and initial phone assessments for Counseling and Mental Health Services (CAMHS) online through the Patient Portal: huhs.harvard.edu/patient-portal. Whenever possible, students are encouraged to call first to obtain advice from their health care team or mental health provider. Urgent Care is available in the Smith Campus Center Clinic at 75 Mount Auburn Street on the third floor 24/7.
Students receive comprehensive outpatient care for a variety of concerns, including anxiety, depression, stress, crisis management, transitional issues, grief, and eating, sexual, or relationship concerns. Based on a students’ needs, clinicians offer:

- Individual counseling
- Group counseling
- Cognitive behavioral therapy
- Medication evaluation and management
- Evaluation for full or partial hospitalizations

Students who are new patients in the CAMHS department can request a 20-minute phone consultation or by logging in to the Patient Portal. Counseling and Mental Health Services is available at all HUHS locations.

Based in Cambridge, the Center for Wellness is a University-wide resource that is focused on promoting the lifelong health and wellbeing of those in the Harvard community. Their approach focuses on mind/body wellness. The Center for Wellness offers classes and workshops, individual appointments for massage and acupuncture, and collaborates with a number of student groups and other offices around the University in health promotion and education. For more information visit wellness.huhs.harvard.edu.
The Ombudsperson for HMS/HSDM/Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health provides impartial assistance to students, faculty, staff and trainees and appointees at the affiliated institutions whose concerns are affecting their work or studies. The Ombuds Office offers a highly confidential, independent, and informal forum in which to help visitors to clarify their concerns, identify their goals and consider all of their options in managing or resolving their situations. The Ombudsperson does not serve as an advocate for any party to a dispute. However, an Ombudsperson does advocate for fair treatment and processes. The Ombudsperson provides coaching in written and verbal communications, informal mediation, meeting facilitation, shuttle diplomacy, upward feedback, and information about policies/procedures and resources. Some typical concerns brought to the Ombuds Office include work/academic environment and performance, research-related concerns, harassment and discrimination, illness and disability and policies and requirements.

Any issue may be brought to the Ombudsperson.
Harvard University is committed to maintaining a safe and healthy educational and work environment in which no member of the University community is, on the basis of sex, sexual orientation, or gender identity, excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination in any University program or activity. Gender-based and sexual harassment, including sexual violence, are forms of sex discrimination in that they deny or limit an individual’s ability to participate in or benefit from University programs or activities.

If you have a concern about something that may have happened to you, or that you may have observed or heard about in the community, you are encouraged to share your concern with a Title IX Coordinator in your School or Unit. Title IX Coordinators have expertise and are positioned to help address disclosures of sexual and gender-based discrimination in the Harvard community.

Title IX Coordinators can:
• Provide information about available resources
• Help arrange interim measures — the supports that help members of the Harvard community continue with their studies and work and to participate in campus life
• Facilitate informal resolution, as appropriate, between the involved parties, with a goal of memorializing a mutually acceptable resolution in writing
• Provide information on the Sexual and Gender-Based Harassment Policy and the applicable Procedures, as well as any additional School or unit policies
• Provide information about the formal complaint process

For additional information on University Sexual and Gender-Based Harassment Policy and Title IX resources, contact:

OFFICE OF SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE

The Office of Sexual Assault Prevention and Response (OSAPR) is a resource open to the entire Harvard community, where people can process and understand their experiences and feel empowered to make the choices best suited to their needs. Every staff member at OSAPR is a certified rape-crisis counselor, and committed to the just and compassionate treatment of survivors and their friends, peers, significant others, and allies.

OSAPR is a resource not only for those who have directly experienced gender-based or sexual harassment, including sexual assault, but also for those who are supporting others. OSAPR fosters collaborative relationships between campus and community partners to ensure a survivor-centered, multi-faceted approach to service provision and primary prevention.
The Harvard Immigration and Refugee Clinical Program (HIRC) offers free legal and social service support and representation to undocumented and DACAmented students. HIRC recognizes that students may have concerns about immigration policies, priorities, procedures, falling out of status, and mapping out future potential immigration remedies. They provide legal and social work consultations to address these concerns and others that immigrants face. HIRC staff attorney, Jason Corral, is offering legal consultation and representation to students and is happy to answer questions. Additionally, HIRC offers consultations with Liala Buoniconti, clinical social worker, who can assist students with a variety of concerns including stress management, family issues, and concrete resources. Jason and Liala are available by appointment.

SAFETY AND SECURITY

HARVARD UNIVERSITY POLICE BUSINESS (617-432-1215)
Every major city has areas that have higher crime rates than others. There are safety precautions that can be taken to maintain a safer city lifestyle. The university document Playing it Safe, available from the Harvard University Police Department, contains important information on crime prevention programs and services at Harvard. It also outlines federal and state laws and university policies on sexual offenses (including rape, date rape, sexual assault, sexual harassment, and other sexual offenses). For more information, please call Harvard University Police business number (617-432-1215). In a life safety emergency, please call 9-1-1.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY POLICE EMERGENCY (617-432-1212)
The Longwood Area police are stationed at 90 Smith Street. Officers are available to give assistance 24 hours a day.

SECURITY (617-432-1040, 24 HOURS A DAY)
Security guards are posted at all Harvard Longwood area building entrances. Guards will ask you to stop and show your ID. Security staff are located in the FXB building.

MESSAGEME: EMERGENCY NOTIFICATION SYSTEM
MessageMe allows the University to quickly distribute critical information to you, wherever you are located, during an emergency. MessageMe helps you to stay informed in the event of an emergency by sending alerts to your personal electronic device through text messaging, voice and/or email. Please enroll in the MessageMe Program at messageme.harvard.edu.

TAXI ESCORT SERVICE
The taxi escort service is available to SPH students on a first come, first serve basis. The hours of operation are 9:00 pm to 3:00 am seven days a week. Those eligible to use the service must have a current, valid Harvard University ID for the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. The taxi escort is arranged through the security officer stationed at the FXB Security Desk at 651 Huntington Avenue upon presentation of a current, valid ID. Security will distribute a taxi voucher and coordinate taxi pick-up. The taxi service is free within a one mile radius of the campus. Should your destination go beyond the one mile radius of the campus, the taxi meter will be turned on and you will be responsible for the additional fare beyond the one mile radius. Each taxi will only go to one destination with up to four riders. Multiple riders going to different destinations will require separate taxis and vouchers. Traffic and weather conditions may affect the timeliness of the taxi service.

WALKING ESCORT SERVICE
The Harvard Longwood Campus has a walking escort service available 24 hours a day. On request, the security officer will escort faculty, staff, or students to any of the Longwood Campus Area parking lots, buildings, or local “T” stops. To use this service, call 617-432-1379. Please call ahead as it may take as long as fifteen minutes for your escort to arrive. Please wait for your escort once you have called.
Dear Students,

Welcome to the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health! We are excited to get to know you, learn about your passions and interests, and help you reach your goals during your time here.

As you begin this journey, please know that your Student Association is here to work with you, hear your concerns, and grow in community with you. Our aim is to advocate for changes that enable and support your personal and professional growth at the Chan School. Student Association consists of elected representatives from each academic program, as well as representatives who focus on issues of community engagement, diversity and inclusion, communication, academics, and social events. We work closely together with each other and with the administration throughout the year to accomplish a wide variety of objectives.

In the past, Student Association has worked on issues of academic affairs, including on course requirements, improvements to course evaluations, and cross-registration. We work on issues of advocacy including social justice, campus activism, disability, mental health, and international student needs. We hold many social events throughout the year to foster a sense of community and create a place to take a break from work, including our annual events such as the friendly competition of Field Day and the showcase of our international student talents at I-Night.

In order for us to serve you, we need to hear you, your voice, and your passions! Here are some ways to get involved with Student Association this year:

- Run for Student Association. We have a number of positions open in the Fall and would love to welcome you to our team! Check our website at hsp.harvard.edu/student-association (or Stall Stories in the restrooms!) in the early fall for available positions.

- Stay in touch with us. We want to hear your needs, suggestions, and comments throughout the year. Email us at hcsa@hsph.harvard.edu. Like us on Facebook at facebook.com/HarvardChanSA/. Fill out our survey on the desktop of every computer at the Chan School. Reach out to us anytime. We are here for you!

Together, we can improve student experience, strengthen our relationship with the local community, and fulfill our responsibility as a leading public health institution to make a healthier world.

We look forward to getting to know you this year!

Lucas Buyon, President
Jacob Petrini, VP of Academic Affairs
Sarah Zelasky, VP of Student Life
STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Student organizations are a vital part of the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health and greatly enhance the cultural, social, and intellectual life on campus. Student organizations provide rich opportunities for networking, peer learning, and professional and personal growth and support. In the 2019-2020 academic year there were over 50 recognized student organizations on campus. The Office for Student Affairs advises student organizations on program planning and provide general assistance and support. Students may apply to recognize or renew a student organization during the fall semester, information about this process can be found at: hsph.me/studentorgs.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

THE HARVARD STUDENT EMPLOYMENT OFFICE (SEO) works with faculty, the community, and all University departments to create term-time and summer employment opportunities for students. The SEO is a resource for job-seeking students and hosts an online jobs database accessible to enrolled Harvard graduate and undergraduate students. seo.harvard.edu

HARVARD CHAN CAREERCONNECT: hsph-harvard-csm.symplicity.com lists mostly full-time job opportunities but sometimes includes listings for part-time or temporary positions (most positions are not on-campus)

RESEARCH ASSISTANT POSITIONS: can typically be found through informal networks and contacts in academic departments.

HARVARD JOB OPPORTUNITIES: hr.harvard.edu/jobs
Harvard’s open staff positions are posted through ASPIRE where job applicants can view job opportunities, set up a personal profile, and apply for jobs online.

TEACHING ASSISTANT POSITIONS: each department and program manages the hiring of teaching assistants independently. Please refer to the department and program directory for contact information.
HARVARD STUDENTS ASSOCIATION SPOUSES AND PARTNERS ASSOCIATION (HSSPA): HSSPA is an entirely volunteer-run organization open to the spouses and partners of all Harvard students, post-docs, visiting fellows and other affiliates. HSSPA provides a way for its members to make friends, find intellectual stimulation, and feel a sense of belonging within the University. Through HSSPA you will find support networks, events, and resources to help you with your stay in Boston. Partners and spouses of Harvard Chan students are welcome and encouraged to participate in all student group events and activities. hsspa.harvard.edu

CHILDCARE: Due to strict state regulations that are designed to ensure both quality and safety, affordable child care can be in short supply in the greater Boston area, depending on the age of your child. Increase your odds for securing the type of child care that works best for your family by starting early and keeping your options open. Below are some options for childcare in the Longwood Medical Area and on Harvard University campuses as well as in the Boston/Cambridge area:

- Six nonprofit, independent child care centers are located on the Harvard University campus – five on the Cambridge campus and one in Allston near Harvard Business School. Each center is independent, and makes its own decisions regarding enrollment and curriculum. hr.harvard.edu/finding-child-care
- The Office of Work/Life on Harvard University Longwood Campus provides information and referrals on self care, child care, adult care and elder care. hlc.harvard.edu/home/worklife/homeandfamily
- The Longwood Medical Area Child Care Center and Bright Horizons Family Center at Landmark Center are both located in the Longwood Medical Area. masco.org/working/child-care-resources
- To get a list of licensed family day care providers and group child care centers in your community, visit the Massachusetts Department of Early Education and Care. mass.gov/early-education-and-child-care-programs-and-agencies
- You may also use the Watch Portal watch.harvard.edu/ to find Harvard students interested in babysitting and childcare opportunities.

PREGNANT OR BREASTFEEDING: The Longwood Campus Lactation Rooms (more information at hlc.harvard.edu/lactation-rooms) are private, comfortable spaces available to use for breastfeeding or expressing breast milk. The rooms are equipped with Medela “Lactina Select” pumps. We also provide information about using the pumps, where to purchase your necessary personal accessories, books and pamphlets about breastfeeding, and contact numbers for professional lactation consultants who can provide problem solving and education. The Office of Student Affairs manages a Lactation Storage Room available for students to use. If you are a student who is interested in receiving access to this room contact the Associate Director of Student Affairs, Colleen Cronin, ccronin@hsph.harvard.edu.
The Harvard Chaplains, a professional community of more than 30 chaplains, represent many of the world’s religious, spiritual, and ethical traditions and share a collective commitment to serving the spiritual needs of the students, faculty, and staff of Harvard University.

ECOOPPORTUNITY TEAM
EcoOpportunity is a group of faculty, staff and students who are dedicated to institutionalizing sustainability practices on the Harvard Longwood campus. This group works to inspire the SPH community to reduce environmental and health impacts, to identify and prioritize resource conservation opportunities on campus, and to establish best practices for sustainable design and operations on campus. EcoOpportunity hosts monthly meetings, initiatives, campaigns, and events throughout the year, and has various subcommittees you can get involved in, such as Labs, Bikes, Waste Reduction, and Events.

To learn more or to join EcoOpportunity, email ecoop@hsph.harvard.edu.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY SUSTAINABILITY PLAN
Enhancing our collective well-being for a better future.

The Harvard Sustainability Plan, adopted in 2014, was developed by the Office for Sustainability in partnership with students, faculty, and staff to align the University around a holistic vision and a five-year roadmap for building and operating a more sustainable campus.

In 2018, the University set new climate action goals to be fossil fuel-free by 2050 and fossil fuel-neutral by 2026. These goals build on our past progress of reducing net greenhouse gas emissions 30% from 2006–2016.

Sustainability is vital to the improvement of public health. Almost every action we take in our daily lives has a health impact on others from our contributions to local landfills to our contributions to global climate change.

As a public health community, we encourage students to act sustainably in their daily actions at Harvard Chan.

Here are 3 ways to get started:

1. Separate your waste
Diverting waste from landfills can reduce the amount of greenhouse gases that are created in landfills and contribute to climate change.

2. Bring your own water bottle to class
Water bottle refilling stations are located in multiple places around Harvard Chan, and a reusable water bottle can cut back on harmful single-use plastic wastes.

3. Turn off lights when last to leave a room
Directly reduce carbon emissions and air pollution from Harvard’s electricity generating facilities by using less electricity.
Harvard University has a University wide photo ID card system. This card (HUID) is necessary in order to enter any Harvard University facility.

If you are a new incoming Harvard student you will use the Harvard University’s ID Card Photo Submission Application which can be found at: campusservicecenter.harvard.edu/photo-submission

If you have a current or previous affiliation (i.e. student, employee) with Harvard that required you to have a photo taken, you are not eligible to use this application.

If a suitable photo is successfully submitted and approved by your school’s deadline, your ID card will be printed and waiting for you when you arrive on campus. The Harvard University ID card provides access to housing, dining halls, libraries, athletics, Crimson Cash, and more.

To submit your photo, please follow the instructions at: campusservicecenter.harvard.edu/services/id-cards/how-obtain-id-card

Please treat your ID as you would your credit cards or other valuable cards. If lost, promptly file a “Lost or Damaged” ID card form. These can be picked up at the ID office or filled out online at: huid.harvard.edu under forms and brought to the ID office. There is a charge of $25.00 for a lost student photo ID card. Students reporting a lost card after the closing date of their final term bill must pay by cash or check.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY ID BENEFITS

- Free transportation on MASCO shuttles with HUID
- Borrow resources from Harvard University Library
- Access to Vanderbilt Hall Athletic Facility located at 107 Avenue Louis Pasteur and Harvard Recreation Facilities in Cambridge (free access for degree seeking students only)
- Outings and Innings: outingsandinings.harvard.edu for discount tickets for local events, performances and more
- Free admission to all Harvard museums
- Free admission to the Museum of Fine Arts, Institute of Contemporary Art, Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum
- 20% discount (for degree seeking students only) when purchasing food at Sebastian’s Café, when using Crimson Cash
HUID FOR SPOUSES AND PARTNERS

As the spouse or partner of a degree-seeking Harvard student/scholar without other university affiliation, you are not eligible for a regular university ID or library card. You can, however, get a Special Borrower Card for the Harvard College Library system for a small fee. This will allow you to use most of the university libraries, to borrow books and other materials (with some restrictions), and in some cases to gain free entrance to Harvard museums.

In addition, you can store Crimson Cash (Harvard’s “electronic money”) on your card and use it as an ID to enter the Smith Center tower and other restricted Harvard buildings, as well as on the Harvard shuttle buses. To get a Special Borrower Card, you must first visit the Library Privileges Office to the left of the entrance of Widener Library in Harvard Yard. You will need a photocopy of your spouse’s Harvard ID (or bring your spouse and their ID with you), and you may be asked for proof of marriage if you have different last names.

After filling in the application and having your photograph taken at the library, you will need to go to the ID services office at Smith Center to pick up your card.

CRIMSON CASH

Crimson Cash allows you to store money on your Harvard ID and use it at participating vendors. When you get your Harvard ID, you automatically have a Crimson Cash account that you can begin using.

You can transfer value onto your ID at the designated machines on campus, or online at: cash.harvard.edu. You can also grant others the ability to add value to your account by telling them the 16 digit CC number on the back of your Harvard ID card. However, only cardholder can make purchases by swiping the thin strip on the card. If you accidentally lose your ID, your money is secured as soon as you report the card missing and immediately available again when you receive your replacement ID.

You can use Crimson Cash at school copiers, printers, and at Sebastian’s Café.

Additional retail locations which accept Crimson Cash can be found at: cash.harvard.edu.
Harvard University Employees Credit Union (HUECU) is a not-for-profit financial institution founded by employees for the whole Harvard community, including Harvard teaching hospitals.

Harvard T.H. Chan School students and their families, including international students, are eligible for HUECU benefits. Membership lasts a lifetime; just like your Harvard degree, and your money will always be easily accessible.

Stop by today and learn more about how HUECU savings accounts, credit cards, student loans and financial education programs can help you reach your financial goals.

DEPARTMENT OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY - STUDENT COMPUTING

The Department of Information Technology staff are happy to assist students with any questions or problems you have with ICF software, equipment, or courseware applications.

For assistance with hardware, computer accounts, email, network support, printing and lab software or computer issues, please contact the Helpdesk using the information above.

HARVARDKEY LOGIN

HarvardKey is Harvard University’s unified credential for accessing a wealth of University applications and services with a single, convenient login name and password. In addition to enabling access to the Harvard applications and services you use every day, HarvardKey also offers an easy-to-use self-service portal for managing your account, including changing your password and updating your recovery information in case you forget your login details.

HarvardKey requires two-step verification to keep you even more secure. To set up two-step verification, please follow the instructions at: huit.harvard.edu/twostep

You will use your HarvardKey credentials to access all ICF computer lab machines, Harvard WiFi, VDI access, as well as online applications such as Canvas and My.Harvard. Questions about HarvardKey or trouble logging into any system? Email helpdesk@hsph.harvard.edu.

STUDENT EMAIL ADDRESSES

The Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health has adopted Microsoft Office365 as the email solution for students. Your Harvard email account can be accessed using your HarvardKey credentials at: outlook.com/harvard.edu.

All students are required to have a Harvard email address and check it on a regular basis as important information from the School is disseminated to this email.

LAPTOP REQUIREMENT POLICY

The School has a laptop requirement for all students. More details about this can be found at: hsph.harvard.edu/registrar/laptop-requirement-policy. Students in financial need can borrow a laptop for the academic year; please contact Student Affairs at studentaffairs@hsph.harvard.edu to request a laptop to use.

INSTRUCTIONAL COMPUTING FACILITY SOFTWARE

Instructional computing facility software (ICF) is available for student use in all computer labs, as well as on the Virtual Desktop Infrastructure (VDI). The VDI allows students to log in to a virtual computer lab desktop to access all software from any internet connected computer. Instructions for installing and accessing the VDI can be found here: hspme/student-vdi

PRINTING AT THE HARVARD T.H. CHAN SCHOOL OF PUBLIC HEALTH:

All ICF lab computers (including the VDI) connect to high-speed printers. Printed output is double-sided by default, and multiple-pages-per-side printing can be requested on a job-by-side basis. We encourage you to use these features in order to conserve paper. Students have an initial printing quota of 500 free pages, and can add additional pages to their account by visiting: cash.harvard.edu or by adding money at the kiosk located by the cafeteria. If you purchase additional pages it costs 5 cents per page. For more information on Pharos printing including instructions and FAQs, please visit our website at: hsph.me/pharos.

Printers are located in Kresge LL-19, Kresge LL-6, Kresge 2nd floor and the FXB G level Lobby.

LL-19 is the main computer lab is open 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, with swipe access from 6:00 PM to 8:00 AM. Printed output is double-sided by default, and multiple-pages-per-side printing can be requested on a job-by-side basis. We encourage you to use these features in order to conserve paper.

Copying: Two copy machines are located on the ground floor of the Kresge Building. Copiers use Crimson Cash at a cost to students of 10¢ per page.

Faxing: A student fax machine is available in Kresge LL-19 that is available at no cost.

Scanning: Both the Kresge LL-19 Ricoh device in the glass walled room and Countway Library have scanners that are available at no cost.

HARDWARE AND SOFTWARE SALES:

Microsoft Office365 applications are available for free download from your O365 account at: portal.office.com/OLS/MySoftware.aspx.

Additional software and hardware may be purchased through Harvard’s University Information Technology department: huit.harvard.edu/pages/computers-software
WHAT SHOULD I KNOW ABOUT CANVAS?
- Canvas is the learning management system at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health. It is where you access all of your course websites.
- You can go to Canvas directly by visiting: canvas.harvard.edu and logging in with your Harvardkey; or you can access your courses through my.harvard.edu. You can also set up the Canvas app on your smartphone or tablet.

WHAT FEATURES WILL I BE USING IN CANVAS?
- Depending on the course, you may be using Canvas for:
  - Interacting with course materials such as the syllabus, readings, handouts, and video lectures
  - Discussing course content online
  - Submitting assignments online

WHAT SHOULD I DO FIRST IN CANVAS?
- Update your profile. Click on Account → Profile to edit your global Canvas profile.
- Customize your contact information. Click on Account → Settings → Ways to Contact to enter custom emails and phone numbers for text updates. All of your courses will make use of these settings.
- Set up your notification preferences. Click on Account → Notifications to customize the frequency of updates you'll receive to each of the above channels. Note: These settings will be applied across all of your courses.
- Sync your Canvas Calendar. Click on Calendar → Calendar Feed to get Assignment due dates and events on your personal calendar (e.g. Google Calendar, iCal, Outlook).

HOW CAN I LEARN MORE ABOUT CANVAS?
- For more information on using Canvas, consider the following links:
  - Visit the Harvard Chan School’s Canvas page for the latest updates at: hsph.me/canvas.

HOW CAN I GET HELP WITH CANVAS?
- If you need assistance with Canvas, you can always click on Help in the bottom left corner of any Canvas page for 24x7 support by chat, email, or phone.
- You can also request support from the Digital Learning Team by emailing mets@hsph.harvard.edu.
