Commencement 2016
More than 500 masters and doctoral students will receive their degrees on Thursday, May 26. Both the Harvard Yard ceremony and the School's diploma ceremony will be streamed live.

We invite you to share Commencement photos on Twitter and Instagram; tag the school using @harvardchansph and use the hashtag #HarvardChan16.

A mother and son at trails’ end
Commencement will set Jane Brown, MPH ’16 and Harry Stone, SB ’16 on new paths that may again intertwine.

Sarah K. Wood Award winner announced
David Havelick, program manager in the Department of Epidemiology, is the winner of the 2016 Sarah K. Wood Award for outstanding staff performance. He will be honored at the School's Commencement award ceremony on Wednesday, May 26.

Event Highlights
Late Lessons from Early Warnings
May 19
4:30-6:00 PM
Kresge G2

Organ Transplantation: Medical, Technological, and Ethical Challenges
Forum webcast
May 20
12:30-1:30 PM

Proactive Adult and Elder Caregiving
May 26
9:30-10:30 AM
Countway Library, Ballard Room

Featured podcast
A look inside the intense, three-day simulation that prepares humanitarian workers to respond to disasters around the world.

In the news
The costs of caring for a loved one
Can artificial intelligence help...
A healthier flock
Regularly attending religious services linked with lower mortality risk among women.

Around the School

A place to remember Jim Ware
A new site will give you the opportunity to post remembrances and photos of Jim Ware. These will eventually be compiled in a memory book.

Walter Willett honored for being creative, collaborative, kind
A recent symposium honored Walter Willett for his 25 years of leadership as Chair of the Department of Nutrition.

Can precision medicine help prevent diseases?
The 163rd Cutter Lecture on Preventive Medicine explored the possibility of using personalized prevention to fight diseases.

New Harvard Training Portal coming in July
The Harvard Training Portal will enable you to access and track all of your Harvard professional learning in one single place.