such factors can be modified/enhanced to chronic disease progression and whether resilience in different individuals against contribute to creating varying levels of chronic diseases. I also want psychological wellbeing in coping with symptoms and the role of positive causative impact of stress on somatic on each other. My interest lies in developing accessible, cost-effective health practice."

"Prior to my placement at BIDMC, I had never fully that mind-body research and mindfulness-based exercise capacity…I find most intriguing the roles with chronic disease characterized by a weakened of physical activity and self-efficacy in individuals explore the impact of mind-body exercise on levels of the Division of General Medicine and Primary Care at BIDMC this summer, I will also be able to impact the mind-body exercise on levels of physical activity and self-efficacy in individuals with chronic disease characterized by a weakened exercise capacity…I find most intriguing the roles that mind-body research and mindfulness-based interventions can play with regards to serving accessible, cost-effective health practice."