

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES FOR AUTHORS

Approximate Word Limits

- Article: 6,000 words. In-depth, referenced analysis using health and human rights framework.
- Commentary: 2,500 words. Critical essay exploring or interpreting a specific issue in health and human rights.
- Report: 2,500 words. An account illustrating health and human rights work of a particular organization or program.
- Profile: 2,500 words. A description of programs, networks, or organizations.
- Book Review: 1,500 words. Peer review of current publications.
- Bibliography: 1,500 words. Annotated selection of published work focused on a specific issue or area in health and human rights.
- For Articles, include an abstract of no more than 125 words.

Format

All manuscripts should be submitted in their final form and should conform to the following guidelines:

- Articles must be typed, double-spaced, and single-sided, with pages numbered and 1.5-inch (3.75 cm) margins.
- Title page must include the names, titles, degrees, affiliations, and correspondence information for all authors.
- Tables and figures should be printed on separate pages and should be numbered in the order in which they are referred to in the text, e.g., (Table 1) (Figure 1). Authors should indicate where tables should be placed in text and be sure to refer to tables in the text.
- An acronym used repeatedly should be cited in its entirety along with the abbreviation in parentheses on first reference, e.g., Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). All subsequent citations should use only the abbreviation.

References

- The journal uses endnotes rather than footnotes.
- Place endnote number at the end of the sentence in which it appears. Editors will move numbers to ends of sentences if not submitted this way.
- Assign a separate number to each endnote throughout the text, even when referring back to a source previously cited.

Submission

- An email submission of attached articles in MS Word is preferable but authors can submit in MS Word on either PC or Mac disk.
- All submitted manuscripts are subject to peer editorial review and revision; those that are accepted will be edited according to journal standards.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

This rigorous 4-day program helps professionals acquire the skills and knowledge they need to successfully incorporate a human rights framework into their daily activities. Participants will acquire a basic understanding of both the history and present status of international human rights and international humanitarian law as they apply to public health practice. The faculty will show participants how to:

- Analyze the human rights dimensions of public health policies and programs
- Access international mechanisms and procedures to further the human rights of persons whose health status is threatened

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Basic Concepts of Health and Human Rights
- Application of the Human Rights Framework to Public Health Policies and Programs
- Skills for Putting the Health-Human Rights Linkage into Practice
- Institutional Settings for Linking Health and Human Rights
- The Way Ahead: Making the Health-Human Rights Linkage Work

Small group sessions address:

- Health and Human Rights Responses to Bioterrorism
- HIV/AIDS, Human Rights and Vulnerability
- Reproductive Rights and Gender Issues
