Harvard Catalyst Pilot Funding: Open Translational Science in Schizophrenia

To be eligible to apply, you or a member of your team must attend an educational event (Register by September 14th at 12PM) to learn about the OPTICS project and received application instructions and further details.

The OPTICS Project demonstrates the value of an open-science approach to fostering collaborations that will lead to insights about schizophrenia, and therapeutic safety and efficacy. Funding of up to $50,000 will be available to support collaborative analysis of the open-source schizophrenia data sets. The goal of this opportunity is to support collaborations leading to insights about schizophrenia and 1) therapeutic safety and efficacy; 2) disease understanding including natural history, subtypes, etiologies, etc., and 3) statistical methods development.

Harvard Catalyst Pilot Funding: Human Oral Microbiome: Collaboration Opportunity

To be eligible to apply, you or a member of your team must attend an educational event (Register by September 14th at 12PM) to learn about the HOMD project and received application instructions and further details.

HOMD is an accessible, online data set with tools for analyzing the bacteria that live in the human oral cavity organized as a taxonomic reference for approximately 700 bacterial species that have been identified as inhabitants of the human mouth. HOMD includes 1,340 genomes representing 368 oral bacterial species. The goal of this opportunity is to support collaborations leading to insights about the human oral microbiome and 1) changes in systemic health status; 2) metagenome, transcriptome, and proteome studies of microorganisms present in the human oral cavity; 3) comparison with curated 16S rRNA data bases for human nose, vagina, gut, and skin microbiomes, 4) phylogenetic comparison and analysis; and 5) oral ecological and biogeographical studies. However, this opportunity is not limited to these areas of collaboration.

Internal Funding Opportunity: Climate Change Solutions Fund
