Native Lives, Native Stories is a list of books published in the previous year for children, teens, and adults concerning the experiences of the Native and Indigenous communities throughout North America. This inaugural list is part of the Boston Public Library's annual observance of Native American Heritage Month.

Join us for an online talk with Kyle T. Mays, author of An Afro-Indigenous History of the United States, the first intersectional history of the Black and Native American struggle for freedom in our country that also reframes our understanding of who was Indigenous in early America.
Join us as we discuss increasing visibility, representation, and relevancy of Native communities in the outdoors.
